

Its progress, political and commercial interest might open top direct the choice of the situation for command in the enterprise of trade, will be discussed, in reference to Courland, views close the subject. The removal from George Town to Scarbero is under immediate consideration, and the drawing on the next page is made to place Beachly Bay in a comparative view of that of Barbadoes before delineated.

At Rockly, the Hill to the East, is an imposing object, and convey the idea of a post of arms for the Protection of the Town, and of shipping, which it towers above and commands; but other Bays may in this strong country be protected, with aid of the engineer, -and the comparative security as well as value of the station will depend in other circumstances in process of this work, I shall show, that the place for business and trade,- should on no account be the place of arms: I shall now eighthly touch on the other grounds of objection to Scabero being made, the capital of Tobago.